

Am I Crazy?

Words and Music by Kent Lehman
© 2010 Kent Lehman

If you go tell her I'm alright
Tell her I miss her through the day and night
It may not show reflected in her eyes
Looking up at the same moonrise

Am I crazy to be caught within your thrall?
I toss and turn all night before you call
I need you like a harbor in a squall
No I'm not crazy after all

If you go tell him in the night
I find my solace in the same moonlight
It may not show or vocalize
But the soft breeze he'll recognize

Am I crazy to be caught within your thrall?
I toss and turn all night before you call
I need you like a harbor in a squall
No I'm not crazy after all

It's the little things, the little things you do
It was you all along, on and on
Across time, across years, over eons to appear
After all, after all
It was you

