Take a picture to hold the frame
Letting go of heartbreak and blame
I know you think that you're all alone
It's hard to know when it's time to let go
You're not alone

Love, things are not what they seem
There's always a storm ahead, hold onto love
Hope, have faith in what you dream
The storm's just a passing thread, hold onto hope

You're running into a wall of doubts
It's hard to know what it all is about
No more sadness, no more distress
It's hard to leave without some kind of test
You're not alone

Love, things are not what they seem
There's always a storm ahead, hold onto love
Hope, have faith in what you dream
The storm's just a passing thread, hold onto hope
