Day after day after day on and on
Day after day after day on and on

Driving around I've been running all day
Didn't really want it to turn out this way.
All around me there were the signs
Signs to divine, signs leading to our decline

Day after day after day on and on
Day after day after day on and on

I kept trying to find what went wrong
Was it circumstance or just me all along?
I believed when you came back to me
In spite of it all, things would be different this time.
Time to open my eyes
Maybe this time
Between you and I

I believe there were signs.
Signs to the state of your mind,
Signs with a purpose to find
The reason I'm falling behind.
If I would only open my eyes.

Running around I've been driving all day
Didn't really want it to burn out this way
I believed when you came back to me
In spite of it all, things would be different this time.
Time to open my eyes
Maybe this time
Between you and I

I believe there were signs.
Signs to the state of your mind,
Signs with a purpose to find
The reason I'm falling behind.
If I would only open my eyes.

Day after day after day on and on
Day after day after day on and on
